

NEW BOOK RELEASE

SALT CREEK JOURNAL

NATURE, COMMUNITY AND PLACE IN SOUTH ST. PETERSBURG

Edited by Michelle Sonnenberg, Hannah Gorski and Alison Hardage

Faculty Advisor, Thomas Hallock

Salt Creek runs through the south side of St. Petersburg, from Bayboro Harbor to Lake Maggiore, where it continues as little more than a drainage ditch toward Clam Bayou. Largely forgotten, the creek emerges now and again throughout St. Petersburg’s history with stories of city improvements, drug raids and alligators. This collection highlights the areas around Salt Creek, the natural world and the community, with personal and historic photographs, past newspaper articles, and contributions from local authors, poets and student writers.

Contributors

- Gloria Muñoz
- Jon Wilson
- Resie Waechter
- Jaqueline Williams Hubbard
- Roy Peter Clark
- Russell J. Crumley
- Cathy Salustri
- Eric Vaughan
- Michael Sadler
- Sarah Kirstine Lain
- ... and many more

Name: _____

Address: _____

Number of Copies ($20 each) _____

Total Amount: _____

Make checks payable to Tampa Bay Writers Network. Proceeds to benefit English programming at the University of South Florida St. Petersburg.

Tampa Bay Writers Network | c/o Thomas Hallock | USF St. Petersburg
Harbor Hall | 140 7th Ave. South | St. Petersburg, FL 33701